Complete Aquatic Gym

The Zen range offers various types of swim spas for every level of fitness. From the beginners or health enthusiast through to a professional athlete, the Zen Spas swim spas enable an complete aquatic gym experience from the heart of your own home. Swimming is the only exercise which benefits every part of the human body with minimal impact on joints and bones.

Aquatic workouts such as treadmill swimming are idea cardiovascular activity and also give numerous other health benefits.

Your Health is Our Priority

In addition to providing the experience of an aquatic gym, the swim spas are also designed to provide a form of physical therapy or rehabilitation. These swim spas are ideal for those recovering from an injury or with physical limitation by providing numerous options for low impact aquatic exercises. This is simply because excercises performed in water are much easier than those performed on land. For those with injuries, low impact aquatic exercises can lead to a rapid and more permanent recovery.

Swim Spas also provide an excellent way for those with arthritis to build strength, increase flexibility, ease tired muscles and relax stiff joints. Since the water buoyancy greatly reduces the pull of gravity on the body and relieves the body of constant pressure.

Swimjet Propulsion System

The state of the art swim jet system offers individuals various levels of resistance swimming. When the jet nozzle is directed upwards, the swimmer will experience an increased level of resistance. If the jet nozzle is directed downwards, the resistance is decreased.
